Charles W. Shifley discusses the Supreme Court's decision in Kimble v. Marvel in Law360

Mr. Shifley explains in Law360 that the Supreme Court's decision in Kimble v. Marvel Enterprises allows patent owners and licensees to confidently and without concern extend "in-term" royalties on patents into the post-expiration period.

Please click here to read the article, "Attorneys React to Supreme Court Patent Royalties Case."

Posted: June 23, 2015